Chitwan National Park is the most popular destination for tourists wanting to have a good experience of the region's wildlife in the south part of Nepal. It was declared a National Park in 1973. In 1984, UNESCO designated it as a Natural World Heritage Site. The Park offers protection to 56 species of mammals, including the one-horned rhinoceros, Bengal tiger, leopard, sloth bear, wild elephant, striped hyena, Gangetic dolphin and wild bison. There are an estimated 470 species of mammals, over 500 species of birds, 126 species of fish, 150 species of butterflies and 47 species of reptiles in the park. The park is spread over an area of 932 sq. kms and located in the lowlands of the kingdom. The forest cover is predominantly Sal(teak), interspersed with tall grasslands, small hills, oxbow lakes and flood plains.
